SB 15 - Limited county impact. Some funerals are held outside city limits so there could be some enforcement impact to county sheriff departments. Since it would involve enforcement of a state code, the county attorney would be responsible for prosecution. The overall impact should not be significant.

SB 21 - As drafted this bill would not cause any significant impact, other than possible costs of conducting an election pursuant to Section 1, subsection (2) if a special or mail ballot question about increased taxing authority was submitted to the voters. If such an election was done in conjunction with another county-wide election, the costs would be insignificant. This is MACo supported legislation.

SB 30 - No impact

SB 33 -Significant county impact.

Section 2 imposes a requirement to develop procedures to protect social security numbers. This will require a significant effort on the part of counties and may require retaining consultants to develop the procedures because of the complexity of the different county agencies that may be involved. Each county agency would need to develop separate policies, because each agency that may use social security numbers would use the information differently.

Section 3 imposes notification requirements should a breach occur. The cost of even attempting to locate such persons could be significant but cannot be determined with any certainty at this time because of the number of variables that could be involved.
